Fields of Krone

We talk to an Ohoka farmer about his fleet of Krone farm machines

NC Equipment talked with Stu Bailey from Ohoka, where we got to see his full line-up of Krone machines in action.

Stu has three Krone machines in operation, a conditioner mower, a Swardro rake and a Comprima baler/wrapper.

Stu works alongside his father, Chris Bailey, on their family dairy farm milking 235 cows. They are situated on an 85 hectare platform with a 30 hectare run-off.

The Bailey family got involved with Krone equipment around six years ago and have stuck with it ever since.

Stu says what they like most about the Krone gear is that it is robust and well thought out.

The cutter bars on the Krone mowers are far superior than anything they have ever used.

Stu says what they like most about the Krone gear is that it is robust and well thought out, Krone machinery is built well and is cost effective to run.

The cutter bars on the Krone mowers are far superior than anything they have ever used. The one drive welded bar, as opposed to bolted, is a huge advantage with absolutely no risk of contaminated oil. The Krone gear is also easy to service.

Stu is impressed with how Krone put a lot of thought into improving their products with research and field trials which they then feed back into their new designs. "Their equipment is always improving", says Stu.

Stu has run other mowers and rakes prior to Krone but says years later you will find the same product with no improvements. "They are just not evolving like Krone", says Stu.

The Krone products are well built and reliable. Price wise, it stacks up to anything else in the market, says Stu.

Stu and Chris have been dealing with NC equipment for over 15 years now. The relationship has passed from one generation to the next. Stu says, they have always found NC Equipment to be upfront and honest about what they are trying to buy, which is why they keep going back. ■

AgriTechnica Exhibition

Our company had Jim and Ryan Bassett attend the AgriTechnica Exhibition this year, which was held in Hanover, Germany last month. Agritechnica classes itself as the largest agricultural machinery exhibition in the world, and it certainly feels like it when you have to walk around it! With over 2800 exhibitors from around 50 different countries, all displayed indoors over 24 halls covering more than 100 acres of floor space. The scale of it and the huge range of everything is somewhat mind blowing.

But it is an amazing exhibition, and very beneficial for both our company and our customers, to meet up with our current overseas suppliers seeing the new products and trends, and other options of brands and products that could be beneficial to our market.

We have some exciting new changes on the horizon, so watch this space!

Team Focus

Meet Adam Rickenberg

Adam has been a valued member of NC Equipment since he joined the team 4 years ago as the service manager. Adam has a strong passion for improving operational process and enhancing the customer service offering of the business.

Adam was born and raised in Zimbabwe but spent 14 years in the Middle East with his wife and two daughters, where he was the regional service manager for Middle East and Africa for several well-known international brands such as LG, Hitachi, ESAB and Panasonic. He comes with a strong background in implementing improvement procedures in service capabilities and customer service.

Adam is currently working on a custom-made database that creates, works with and tracks workshop jobs in conjunction with a basic CRM database.

In his spare time Adam shares a passion in flying model aeroplanes and performing with his band, The Allin Drive Band, around North Canterbury.

His enthusiasm and drive to achieve operational efficiency and growth whilst growing customer satisfaction is very much appreciated at NC Equipment.
